

NATIONAL WHIG.

SKETCHES FOR THE PUBLIC.

No. I.

WASHINGTON, June 14, 1847.

Under the above head will appear, from day to day, in this journal, a series of papers, drawn by a plain hand, which, it is hoped, will prove to be of some interest to the readers of the time.

The Whig party and its great cardinal principles will be fearlessly maintained when ever defence is deemed necessary. But the principal aim in these sketches will be to show up and show off, in a clear and truthful light, the principles and conduct of the present Administration and the leaders of its party in different parts of the country.

The war with Mexico is Mr. Polk's war! He willed it—he ordered it—he brought it on, by directing our army to march to the Rio Grande, opposite Matamoros. This he did without deigning to consult Congress (the only war-making power under the Constitution, and then in session) in the matter! Justly chargeable to him, then, are all the horrors and all the expenses of the war!

What did he bring on this war for? What else, but to make the people rally round his Administration, and by force of circumstances compel his nomination—against his declarations and his will, of course—for a re-election! Madison, in a time of war, was re-elected, and why might not Mr. Polk be?

The war itself would not be a very great affair! A flash of the bugle along the valley of the Mississippi would call forth a few thousand brave fellows, who would quickly and gladly march straight to the "Halls of the Montezumas," conquering all before them! It is currently reported that Judge Shields, before he was appointed a Brigadier General, declared in the President's House that with five hundred good men he could march through Mexico with impunity! In severe experience he has found his mistake.

Mr. Polk has found that he, too, has been most sadly deceived. The war, which was so soon to be gone through with, was not only to make him popular and secure his re-election, in spite of all his disinterested proclamations and aspirations in favor of the repose of private life, but was to add California and New Mexico to the United States! Hence the sending of Commodore Sloat and Stockton and Gen. Kearny out to those regions, with their proclamations annexing California and New Mexico and their inhabitants to the United States! And in addition to all this, Mr. John Slidell was to be received by the Mexican Government as a full minister! Every thing was to be done as Mr. Polk wished!

But the war commenced in consequence of the march of our troops to the left bank of the Rio Grande! It was soon perceived that the war would be a matter of no child's play, but a long, bloody, and an expensive war. What then did Mr. Polk do? Aye, what? A though struck him, or was put into his head by Mr. John Slidell, that by an intrigue with the miscreant Santa Anna, then in banishment with his suite of Generals at Havana, with a bribe of two millions of dollars, he could get the banished ex-President of Mexico, with his suite of Generals, back into his native country, and through him obtain a peace and the coveted California and New Mexico! He asked Congress for the two millions, without informing that body exactly what he designed doing with so much money. Congress refused to let him have the two millions. Nevertheless, John Slidell's brother, Captain Slidell Mackenzie, was posted off to Havana, where it is said he dressed himself in full uniform, and paid a diplomatic visit to Santa Anna, after which he sailed for Mexico, and paid a visit to Commodore Conner and General Taylor. At all events a pass was granted to Santa Anna and suite to go through our blockade into Vera Cruz, that they might soon be at the head of the Mexican army, reinforced and invigorated by this powerful acquisition to give battle to Gen. Taylor's command at Buena Vista, and to Gen. Scott's command at Serrita Gordo, as well as at other points; yet to be learned! And now how stands the war? What has been its cost to us of the United States in blood and in treasure? Who is not sick or ashamed of it? Who can tell when and how it is to end, and what will be its ultimate cost?

The advocates of Mr. Polk's conduct wish to make it appear that General Taylor recommended the marching of the army to the Rio Grande, and therefore is as much as Mr. Polk, the cause of the war! But in proving this by citing General Taylor's letter, they convict themselves of an untruth. General Taylor is well known to have been opposed to our claim of the Rio Grande as a boundary. But he was acting under the orders of the Administration, and he wrote to the War Department that if the Government intended to make the line of the Rio Grande its ultimatum, then he thought the best step would be to march the army to the left bank of that river! How different is this from a recommendation, without qualification, that the army be marched to that stream!

But the great and damning act of Mr. Polk after the war had commenced, and for which he will have to atone bitterly, was in "rendering aid and comfort to the enemy" by sending Santa Anna and his Generals back into Mexico. In his message of December last, he strove to justify the act, and intimated that the people would yet see that Santa Anna would do the right thing! But what have Mr. Polk's friends said of the matter? One of them, a judge in Alabama, appointed by Mr. Polk shaking his head, said, "Santa Anna fooled Mr. Polk, and he would have fooled him out of the two millions, if Congress had made the appropriation!" Another, Gov. Aaron V. Brown, of Tennessee, tells the people in his speeches, in alluding to that act on the part of Mr. Polk, pointing significantly to his head, "the error was here."

But at last Mr. Polk has been convinced that Santa Anna deceived him, and hence the declaration to that purport in General Scott's celebrated proclamation to the Mexicans.

But what says Santa Anna himself upon this subject? In his despatch to the Minister of War, from Jalapa, dated May 13th, this paragraph occurs: "But in the midst of the malevolence, (encono) which General Scott shows he has against me, he does me too much honor when he says, that they had been deceived as to my real intentions, and that, on account of this mistake, his Government permitted me to pass to my country. Indeed, most Excellent Sir, the U. States was deceived when they dreamed that I was capable of betraying my country. Before this should happen, I would prefer to be consumed by fire, and my ashes scattered, than not a single atom be left."

After this, it is fair to presume that Mr. Polk will not, in his next annual message to Congress, exultingly repeat the exclamation in his list that it is yet to be seen whether it was not a wise stroke of policy to send Santa Anna and his suite of Mexican Generals back into Mexico!

PATENT OFFICE.

A very spirited and artist-like view of the new Patent Office, taken from a point near the corner of 7th and F streets, accompanied by a vertical section, and horizontal plan of the centre building, as planned and designed by William P. Elliot, Esq., architect and solicitor of patents, (formerly of the Patent office, and late surveyor of the city of Washington), and drawn on stone by A. De Vandricourt, a very distinguished artist from Italy, has just appeared from the excellent lithographic establishment of Mr. C. B. Graham, of this city, and is on sale at our print shops.

The view represents a Grecian front, of variegated free-stone, in perspective, upwards of 400 feet long, two stories high embraced within the order, crowned by an entablature of at least 12 feet high, and this by a plain coping; the whole standing of an elevated rustic basement of 12 feet high, entirely above ground. The main entrance, which is in the centre, opposite 8th street, is embellished by a portico 100 feet front, by a depth of 50 feet, supported by 16 fluted Grecian doric columns, each 18 feet in circumference, arranged in two parallel rows, approached by a flight of granite steps. This portico leads to the vestibule, wherein are arranged some fine models of steam engines and printing presses, opening on the west to the principal model-room, and on the east to a 16 feet passage, having arranged on either side the various rooms for the Commissioner, Examiners, Clerks, Librarian, Draftsman, &c., and also, by two descending flights of marble steps to the grand Exhibition Room, in which are arranged many beautiful specimens of American fabrics; the identical clothes and sword worn by General Washington; the printing press at which Benjamin Franklin worked while in London; the original draft of the Declaration of Independence, and various other valuable curiosities.

The vestibule also conducts by two curved flights of descending steps to the basement story, which is arranged in a similar manner to the principal story for various classes of unpatented models, &c. The building, when finished, will form a rectangular block, 410 by 300 feet, having bold projections and convenient entrances near the several angles, with an open rectangular court in the centre of the block to admit light and air, having a continuous passage around and in the centre of the four sides, extending about 1,000 feet in length—the rooms on either side being formed and arranged to suit the future wants of the department. Notwithstanding the great magnitude of this building, it is already much crowded. The wings will have to be added in the course of a year or two, unless the National and Smithsonian Institute give up the large hall for the exhibition of the models, which is now in part temporarily occupied by the curiosities under the charge of these institutions.

Headquarters Army of Occupation, Camp near Monterey, May 9, 1847.

SIR: Your letter of the 4th ultimo, in relation to the remains and effects of your much lamented son, Captain George Lincoln, has safely reached me. I beg leave to offer my heartfelt sympathies with you in the death of this accomplished gentleman. In his fall, you have been bereaved of a son of whom you might be most justly proud, while the army has lost one of its most gallant soldiers. It is hoped, however, that your deep grief will be assuaged in some degree in the proud reflection that he fell nobly on the field of battle, while gallantly discharging the duties of his profession.

I learn upon enquiry, that the body of your son was carefully removed from the field immediately after his death, and that it was decently interred by itself. Its identity is, therefore, a matter of certainty. His effects are understood to have been collected with due care, and are now under the direction of General Wool.

I shall take an early occasion to convey your wishes on this subject to that officer, with the request that he will be kind enough to put the remains and effects, carefully prepared for transportation, in route for New York or Boston, by the first safe opportunity, and that he give you, at the same time, due notice thereof.

I am, sir, with great respect, Your obedient servant, Z. TAYLOR, Major Gen. U. S. A.

Gov. LEVI LINCOLN, Worcester, Mass.

The daughter of G. Taylor, of Upper Marlboro' Md., was burnt to death last week. She was just 14 years old!

The money coined in the U. States since we have been the United States amounts to $122,500,000 only!

The Harrisburg Argus, a staunch Democratic Polk paper, has broken the chains and come over to the Whigs. It hoists the universal flag of Zachary Taylor. Stop that ball, Mr. Rinehie! Close the gates!

Mr. Vattenare, the Book Exchange man, and Ventriquoist, has come. He will be lionized by the Americans again to a complete surfeit. A more thorough charlatan than this Alexander Vattenare cannot be found.

There are 614 physicians, 109 druggists, 31 midwives, and 4 dentists in the Eastern District of Louisiana.

Lieutenant Barbour and his command of 33 men who were taken prisoners by Urean on the 24th of February last, are still unheard of. It is feared that they have all been murdered.

A lady of Alabama, says the New Orleans Delta, has applied to one of the officers of the Army in New Orleans, for permission to enlist in the army during the war. She is a second Joan of Arc. Let her go, by all means.

Mr. Anderson, of the Tredegar Iron Works at Richmond, intends hereafter to employ negro labor entirely.

An American Galeazzi's Messenger is advised to be established in Paris. Who will support it? Not Englishmen. Americans there are not enough.

The Boston papers say that if Mr. Polk will persist in visiting their city, where he knows he is not welcome, they will never lose their self respect even in the presence of an unwelcome guest.

A fire in Baltimore on Saturday consumed an edge-tool factory valued at $5000.

A slaver has been sent into New York by our African Squadron. What's the use of it? The parties will be found guilty and then pardoned by our merciful Executive.

An ocean steamship, built at Cincinnati, will start for Liverpool from New Orleans in October next.

Capt. E. Webster, son of old Dan, both Mexican Whigs according to the Union, is on a trip to the North on furlough.

The colonists have rescued 800 miles of the coast of Africa from slavery. If they will never do more than this, their work will tower above the trifling of the abolitionists even as the pyramid of a thousand centuries above the drifting and worthless sands of the desert.

The mechanics of Richmond, Va., are forming Union Societies. Right.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Express says he is "determined to unmask Locofocoism, however difficult the task may be." If there is any difficulty in getting its mask off, says Prentice, perhaps the shortest cut would be to take its head off.

One of John Tyler's boys recently received from the Administration the appointment of captain under the ten regiment law. He went to Old Point to organize a company, but very soon resigned and disappeared. Probably he found, says Prentice, that nobody would serve under him!

The Washington Union believes that "many of the Whigs, who are for Gen. Taylor, will abandon him for Gen. Scott." The editor of the Washington Union is a fool. Does he think that it is in his master's power, says Prentice, now as upon another occasion, to strip old Rough and Ready of his veterans and transfer them to Gen. Scott's banner?

The Washington Union thinks that the Mexicans are very obstinate not to give up after so many defeats. Well, says Prentice, the Union had better advise the Locofoco party in this country to give up for that party, during the last year, has sustained twice as many defeats as the Mexicans.

We are informed, says Prentice, that the editor of the Democrat recently talked of joining the army in Mexico, but that he has since given it up. We presume he gave it up as soon as he found, from the backing out of his masters, that the Mexican churches were not to be robbed.

Cypress trees in Muhlenburg county, Ky., grow 32 feet round and 70 feet without a limb. Noble growth that!

On the 9th inst. the cabin of a new steamboat lying at the Cincinnati wharf was blown off in a gale and three persons badly injured.

Emory & Henry College, near Abingdon, Va., is in a very flourishing condition.

"Love your enemies"—said a preacher to an Indian. "Me does love 'em." "Which enemies do you love most?" "The fire-water!" answered the Indian.

The following appears in a Scotch paper: Abstinence—"A gentleman, addicted to intemperance, will be received as a boarder in a genteel family, in the country, where efforts, successful in the reformation of others, will be used for him."

If every friend of the cause would do this intemperate friend would disappear like the morning dew before a July sun.

The Crawfordsville, (Ind.) Press, thinks that the National Whig cannot fail to meet the approbation of Whig people. He regards it as the best specimen of the paper kind which has been established at Washington.

The Ohio people are just waking up to the importance of Rail-ways, and they are now cutting up their beautiful state with these glorious roads. Success to them, till every "every mountain shall be brought low and every valley lifted up" for the iron pathway.

The steamboat Red Wing exploded her boilers at Rock Island, in the Mississippi, on the 1st instant. Nobody killed, but many scalded.

Col. Doniphan will, we have no doubt, be the Whig candidate for the next Governor of Missouri. He will regenerate that State, for he will be to Missouri what old Zach is to the Union—unbeatable. Huzza for Buena Vista and Sacramento!

The Guernsey (Ohio) Times, republishes another of the Taylor Songs written expressly for the National Whig—"Come Band Together"—and omits to give us credit for it.

The villain who stole Miss Fox from her parents in New York has been caught and the child restored to her parents.

The Sentinel, a spirited journal just established in Ogdensburg, N. Y., goes it hot and heavy for old Zach.

Gen. Coombs of Ky., has recently recovered a fee of $15,000 from the Northern Bank of that State, for services in the Lewis fraud.

The Alabamians intend to bring down their fine coal of the Warrior river so as to be able to supply the new line of English and New Orleans steamships.

The Louisa Railroad in Virginia and the Charlotte Railroad in South and North Carolina are sure to be made. The utmost excitement prevails upon the subjects.

DR. C. A. VAN ZANDT'S Health Restorative Pills

is a medicine which not only cures but prevents disease, capable of great results, and equally calculated to be safely used for apparently small ones. We all know how dreadful and dangerous a seated bilious disorder is, and we are also well aware of the seeming insignificance of its first warnings or incipency. The individual suffering from slight pains in his chest, back, or stomach, or from occasional nausea, dull headache, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, trifling prostration of appetite, and other disagreeable visitations so common, and foolishly looked upon as unimportant, may not know that these symptoms, treated so contemptuously, are the consequences of a diseased state of the liver, which if not remedied, will lead either to speedy death or a long train of unbearable ills which are known by the following names: Hypochondria, mania, dizziness, slow fever, epilepsy, asthma, dropsy, rheumatism, cholera, convulsions, nausea, nervousness, cramps, gout, pleurisy, jaundice, irritability, and violence, dyspepsia, hysterics, scurvy, foul stomach, dry coughs, glandular affections, colds, lingering sore throats, various disorganizations of the great intestine, strictures and spasmodic complaints internally, eruptions, shortness of breath, heartburn, neuralgia, vital inflammation, flatulence, gastric fevers, &c.

Sometimes, too, there ensues an irregular action of the heart. Take these pills and suffer no more. WYATT & KETCHUM, 121 Fulton st., N. Y., General Agents; and sold by CHARLES STOTT, april 24th—6mo.
